

Customers gain greater IT agility using CenturyLink's global network and managed SAP service capabilities

SINGAPORE, June 23, 2020 /PRNewswire/ -- CenturyLink, Inc. (NYSE: CTL), today announced that it has entered into an agreement to expand its global SAP alliance to Singapore. This extension allows customers to access SAP business management solutions supported by managed end-to-end applications, hybrid cloud and edge capabilities and backed by CenturyLink's secure, global network.

Ignatius Wong, director, product management, hybrid cloud and IT solutions, CenturyLink Asia Pacific said: "In Singapore, businesses operate in one of the most connected economies in the world. Organizations rely on their data to differentiate on a global scale, and access to accurate information in real time is imperative for success. The extension of this global alliance to Singapore means that customers here can access the entire SAP solution stack from the network level up through application support through CenturyLink, providing a competitive advantage."

By utilizing CenturyLink, businesses gain access to a suite of SAP solutions and services, including support for SAP S/4HANA implementations and SAP solutions deployed on public and private clouds. These capabilities are designed to help companies execute implementations across hybrid IT environments.

"As crises take hold, technology plays a crucial role in helping businesses weather economic uncertainties. The extended partnership with CenturyLink is more important than ever as we assist businesses in Singapore to minimize disruption and support business continuity," said Eileen Chua, managing director, SAP Singapore. "The collaboration is a true testament to our trusted SAP partner ecosystem as we deliver the intelligent enterprise to help our customers in Singapore transform and pivot during these unprecedented times."
