

Lumen supports legislation to fund ACP as part of digital inclusion mission

January 10, 2024

Lumen Technologies (NYSE: LUMN), as part of its digital inclusion mission, strongly supports bipartisan legislation introduced in Congress today that will fully fund the FCC's Affordable Connectivity Program \(ACP\), which is scheduled to run out of money this spring.

"Lumen is committed to bridging the digital divide and helping more people get online in all the communities we serve," said Melissa Mann, Lumen SVP, Public Policy and Government Affairs. "That's why we proudly participate in the FCC's Affordable Connectivity Program, offering a no-cost broadband option for qualifying residential customers. Lumen strongly supports bipartisan legislation to fully fund the ACP, and we look forward to working with policymakers to find ways to fund this important program."
